

Becoming a Member Company of the Commissioning Professionals Society

The Commissioning Professionals Society is the premier social body for commissioning individuals and organizations looking for global exposure, access to key stakeholders, the world's best commissioning professionals, and targeted marketing to a captive audience. With individuals and members from over 26 countries, member companies have access to the global commissioning and startup community, offering a unique opportunity to expand business into new regions or grow existing regions to new levels.

Exposure To the Global Commissioning Community

The Commissioning Professionals Society has members from 26 different countries around the world. Utilize the global network of CPS to expand your business footprint into different regions.

Networking

Having a common link through CPS breaks down the barriers of entry to new clients and changes the way clients view your company. Leverage the CPS network to secure more meetings and more business.

Exclusive Options for The Commissioning Professionals Symposium

Member companies have the right of first refusal for preferred exhibitor placement, marketing opportunities for a reduced cost, and the ability to showcase their organization to the entire network of Symposium guests as an industry leader.

Participation in The CPS Periodical

The quarterly periodical will offer marketing opportunities, company showcases, opportunities for content contribution, and much more. Distributed digitally, the CPS periodical will contain a wealth of information reaching a large global audience.

Access to Preferred Rates for Accreditation

One of the core principles of The Commissioning Professionals Society is the commitment to standardizing the commissioning industry. Member companies will have the first opportunity to be evaluated as a CPS accredited member company when the program is implemented. This designation will elevate your business to elite status within the commissioning industry.

www.cpsociety.co | info@cpsociety.co

